

Global Patent Litigation: Mapping Your Strategy

- November, 2012, Practical Law Company IP & Technology Magazine

Author(s): Michael J. Kasdan and Joseph Casino

Filing patent infringement suits against an alleged infringer in more than one jurisdiction may provide a patentee with major strategic advantages. However, a successful global patent litigation campaign requires complex strategic planning that takes into account the differences between key jurisdictions in timing, procedure and substantive patent law...

Click here to read the article.