

Supreme Court 2014-2015 IP Case Review (October/November 2014)

- New York Intellectual Property Law Association Bulletin, October/November 2014

Author(s): Charles R. Macedo

As the Supreme Court has already accepted the following three intellectual property cases for review this term (as of submission of this article), the Court appears to be continuing the heightened interest it has shown in the past few years in intellectual property matters. The Amicus Brief Committee has already filed a brief in one of these matters, and it will continue to monitor and propose amicus curiae submissions, where appropriate, to be made to the Court(s).
